New man at Farrelly & Mitchell

FARM and business advisors, Farrelly & Mitchell, have added a new name to their property management team with the appointment of Marco Henke. The new man will take charge of the company's international property portfolio. A German national, he previously worked as a property fund manager for Conti — a German-based property investment company.

Farrelly & Mitchell currently manage a property and development portfolio valued in excess of €250 million including over €60 million of commercial property in Germany.
